Over a hundred citizens came by Rumah Anak Bangsa Malaysia that wet evening on Sept 24th. It was the inaugural SABM Dinner Lecture - a paid event - where each month a key personality is invited to expound his or her views on a selected issue facing the nation. The idea hopes to achieve two goals: to enable a platform for deeper discussions, and to help SABM raise funds to continue with its operations and activities

THE rain had let up by sunset, slowing down into a stubborn drizzle. The food, North Indian with a lamb entree, helped satisfy the damp conditions.

The evening's speaker was Zaid Ibrahim, often credited as the main facilitator behind the Pakatan Rakyat's common policy framework, a broadened agenda to restore democracy and restructure weakened institutions.
