

We received this video link from a fellow-Anak Bangsa Malaysia.

It's a presentation by social artist, Lily Yeh and her work with Barefoot Artists, a non-profit arts organisation which "aims to train and empower local residents, organize communities, and take action for a more compassionate, just and sustainable (better) future". But mission statements are just that - statements.

It's an amazing story which you just have to watch and be inspired. We were blown away.

Ready to stand?

NOTE:

You can read more about Barefoot Artists here .

We have much to learn and to reconcile. SABM will be hosting a special forum on the United Nations Year of Reconciliation on Saturday, Dec 5. Among the topics discussed will be urban poverty, and also a movie-cum-presentation by the group Nur Damai based on the documentary The Imam and the Pastor. You can view the details here . Do come.

P.S. Much thanks to Padmini Solomon for the video link.

